Big Victory for Saskatchewan Liberals

Takes 43 Seats, Liberals 4; Tories Fail In All Ridings

REGINA, June 16.—(CP)—The first C.C.F. government in history boomed into power on a landslide vote in Saskatchewan yesterday, under the leadership of Thomas Clement Douglas, 40-year-old former Baptist minister who resigned a seat in parliament for what turned out to be the premiership of this prairie province.

The vote left no more than a corporal's guard of the Liberal administration headed since 1935 by Premier W. J. Patterson. Early today 43 C.C.F. members and four Liberals had been conceded election. C.C.F. candidates led in two of the four doubtful seats and Liberal candidates in the others.

The 32nd seat—Cumberland—will be decided June 24. The one-sided verdict of Saskatchewan voters was accompanied by the C.C.F. with only slightly more than half the total ballot cast.

The election trend was unmistakable from the early returns which showed Mr. Douglas' followers piling up sizeable margins over the Liberals, and over the Progressive Conservative and various independent candidates who failed to return a single member. Soon, as concessions began to come in, the overwhelming proportions of the C.C.F. victory were apparent.

PREMIER'S SEAT UNCERTAIN
Premier Patterson was not certain of his Cannington seat. He had a plurality over C.C.F. and Progressive Conservative candidates but his margin was so small that—in a few other close contests—the votes cast by Saskatchewan servicemen and servicewomen serving in their home provinces may be enough to swing the tie against him and the vote will be counted June 18.

Seven of Mr. Patterson's cabinet members were re-elected. Five were defeated. Highway Minister Proctor was re-elected in Moose Jaw. E. M. McPherson, minister without portfolio, was running second to a C.C.F. candidate in Gravelbourg but may possibly win out on the basis of the soldier vote.

The extent of the C.C.F. victory is indicated by the legislative standing at dissolution. The Liberals 32, C.C.F. 43, Progressive Conservative 10, and various independent candidates 2,525.

The standing in the last legislature was Liberals 32, C.C.F. 10, Progressive Conservative 10, and various independent candidates 2,525.

At 6 a.m. E.D.T. today—with 2,769 of 3,140 polls reported—a compilation by The Canadian Press showed the C.C.F. had obtained 192,041 of 366,023 votes cast, or about 52 per cent. The Liberals had 129,320, the Progressive Conservatives 44,485, and various independent candidates 2,525.

In Saskatchewan 52.3 Per Cent. of Vote Polled by C.C.F. Party

REGINA, June 16.—(CP)—The C.C.F. polled 52.3 per cent of the vote in yesterday's Saskatchewan election, according to a preliminary compilation by The Canadian Press. The Liberal Party polled 38.2 per cent and the Progressive Conservative 10.1 per cent. The popular vote compilation, with almost one-third of the province's polls still to report, indicated a probable total vote approximately 366,000. The total vote in the last Saskatchewan election in 1938 was 445,732, but in this election it was estimated about 100,000 voters were absent on military service or in war industries outside the province.

Mystery Bombers

Nazis Launch Secret Year

LONDON, June 16.—A fantastic stream of pilotless Nazi bombers rained fire and explosives across Southern England all last night and through the morning hours today, and radio Berlin said the robot fleet had smashed at London itself in "the beginning of vengeance" for the Allied attacks on Germany.

Adolf Hitler finally had launched his boasted secret weapon against Britain and the mighty invasion arsenal piled up on the island, and British official sources made no effort to minimize the gravity of the attack.

All southern England was alerted, and Home Secretary Herbert Morrison confirmed the existence of the robot raiders and promised immediate counter-attack in a statement to Commons.

A German high command communiqué said South England and the London city area were bombarded last night with "new type explosives" of very heavy calibre, and Berlin military commentators boasted that the mysterious raiders were "a new anti-invasion weapon of the greatest effect."

An official announcement tonight said "enemy activity has been continued intermittently throughout the day, although on a smaller scale than last night. Incidents have occurred at several places in Southern England and damage and casualties have been reported."

The new weapon used against Great Britain was already reported in a C.C.F. announcement tonight.

Patrols probably had pushed on even close to the road and railroad, and unless the Germans had stiffening hourly—could mount an effective counter-attack. It appeared likely that the town would fall within the next day or two.

To the northeast the Americans scored modest advances between Montebourg and Quineville, a former coastal sector in which they were pushing toward Valognes and Cherbourg. Confused fighting still swirled through the town of Montebourg.

Bad weather cut down the Allied air support, but they managed to bring in standing patrols over the beaches and battle area.

The situation also had from the supply viewpoint. A 20-mile wind from the northwest kicked up waves off shore.

CASUALTIES LIGHT

Medical authorities back from the beaches announced that Allied losses so far are well below expectation, and that modern surgery, drugs and technique had been so effective that less than one per cent of the wounded who received medical installations died later. The rate in the last war was around 10 per cent.

Field hospitals with nurses landed on the beachhead four days after the invasion and began work on the first 100,000 men.

"Sickness among all the Allied troops in France was observed officially as 'virtually nil'."

Allied headquarters announced that the threat to the peninsula was "substantially increasing" as the Allies thrust into the enemy flank on a 10-mile-wide front from 15 to 25 miles below the big point.

Despite the American advance, there was no "major change" in any sector of the 10-mile beachhead perimeter, Gen Dwight D. Eisenhower reported in his daily communiqué following a surprise visit yesterday to the British-Canadian perimeter from the front in command with his deputy commander, Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder.

"All attempts by the enemy to gain the initiative have been frustrated and counterattacks have been repelled successfully," the communiqué said. "Our striking power grows steadily."

Richard D. McMillan, British liaison press correspondent at the front, said the valley bounded roughly by Villers-Bocage, 14 miles southwest of Caen, Caumont, seven miles to the west, and Tilly-sur-Seuil, 10 miles northeast of Caumont, had been churned into a was recorded at the power plant measuring station on the river during the last three days to 15 feet. The rapidity of this increase was due to the fact that a day morning, and between 5 a.m. and 8 a.m. the river rose only five inches. This compares with the three inches in 25 minutes recorded at noon on Thursday.

Cly King, Haddow stated Friday morning that if conditions remained the same, it will not be needed for wholesale movement of residents on the flats. It may be necessary to move more families as the rising water encroaches on low lying land along the river banks, he said.

He said that water in some areas of the flats was not above the level of the river, and the residents and requested that they be kept in the basement, and also to divert roof water into the basement.

Mr. Haddow was of the opinion that the river would rise about an inch during the next 24 hours, and would start to abate. This prediction was based on the conditions of the river, the weather, and also on the fact that no change was expected in the weather.

AN R.A.F. BEACH SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS, June 15.—(Delayed)—(CP)—Never in the history of war can a single day have had such a prehistoric, devastating barrage as June 15, 1944.

"I think the result is due to three factors:

"1. A tactical mistake on the part of the Liberal government in refusing to hold an election at the end of the normal period of office. This sort of thing is usually looked upon by the electorate as a sign of weakness or a sign of a government's inability to govern."

Eye witness accounts of the raid varied, but all reports indicated that the missiles were either rocket-propelled or radio-controlled.

Observers said the projectiles came down at terrific speed, singly or in groups of two or three, and scoring 3,000 feet or more in the air.

R.A.F. night fighters pilots went in to challenge the missiles, diving recklessly through a terrific hail of fire thrown up by the British ground defenses in an effort to explode them in mid-air.

Many of the projectiles were believed to have been hit and exploded in mid-air.

More than half with terrific impact on the ground, and preliminary reports indicated that considerable damage had been done.

Up with the old discredited financial system.

Charles H. Grant, C.C.F. secretary, Edmonton Provincial Liberal Association, speaking of the C.C.F. landslide.

The election results are indeed a great surprise. However, we hope they give Saskatchewan a good government, and let the people see what they are capable of doing.

NOT SURPRISED
J. Percy Page, president of the Independent Citizens' Association of Alberta, said: "While I was not surprised at the defeat of the Liberal government, I certainly was surprised that the defeat turned out to a rout."

"I think the result is due to three factors:

"1. A tactical mistake on the part of the Liberal government in refusing to hold an election at the end of the normal period of office. This sort of thing is usually looked upon by the electorate as a sign of weakness or a sign of a government's inability to govern."

"The result of the Saskatchewan election is just what I expected. It was a battle between party machines, and the newer machine of the C.C.F. annihilated one of the most vicious political machines in the West."

"The C.C.F. has been knocking at the door of power for a long time, and the electorate evidently felt their program was worthy of a trial."

"I think the result of the election did not result in a stalemate. The C.C.F. has been given a very positive endorsement by its people."

Takes 43 Seats C.C.F. Sweeps to Power In Saskatchewan Election

they elected 50 members to the legislature which then had 55 members instead of the 52.
The legislative seats again will be raised to 55 when Saskatchewan becomes a province. The 50 members serving outside the province elect three members-at-large later. The arrangements for this balloting have not been completed. One member will be elected for Canada outside Saskatchewan and Newfoundland; one for the United Kingdom, including the invasion forces in France; and one for service personnel in the Mediterranean theatre.

SIT FOR ONE TERM

These three members will sit for one term, following a precedent established in the First Great War when these members were elected similarly.

Since 1909 when Saskatchewan became a province there have been six Liberal administrations. The Conservatives have never formed a government alone but the other Saskatchewan administrative bodies have been in power since the last election.

The Liberals had 30 candidates, the C.C.F. 31, and there were 10 others of various political backgrounds. The Liberals had 130,000 votes, the C.C.F. 130,000, and the others 130,000.

DOUGLAS STATEMENT

Mr. Douglas, who has been a bright star in the C.C.F. firmament since he entered the political arena in 1935, termed the victory of his party "a victory for the people of Saskatchewan as a whole."
"The election victory," he said in a post-election statement, "was the result of team work, the operation on the part of thousands of workers and I want to thank them for their hard work. The same co-operation is necessary to attack the economic and social problems that will face us as a government."

Fresh from the political arena at Ottawa, Mr. Douglas said the election result was an indication of the Saskatchewan feeling in regard to federal agriculture, manpower and post-war reconstruction policies.

Mr. Ramsey, the Progressive Conservative leader, said that with election of a C.C.F. government Saskatchewan starts a new chapter in its history.

"Great problems lie ahead and we must face them as a people without allowing ourselves to be factors of disunity to deter us from building a united Canada," he added.

BORN IN SCOTLAND

Mr. Douglas, the new premier, was born in Scotland but came to Canada 34 years ago at the age of six. He has gathered experience the hard way, sometimes earning his living and his education by manual labor. He is an able debater and has a sharp wit which he uses as necessary in his clashes with political opponents.

He was elected C.C.F. provincial leader at a convention last year. When the election was called he turned in his resignation as a member of the House of Commons to lead his party on the hustings.

Last night he said he is prepared to take over the administration as soon as Mr. Patterson leaves his office.

LIVELY MINISTERS

Mayor J. W. Corman of Moose Jaw is expected to be recommended for the post of attorney general, the only lawyer elected by the C.C.F. J. H. Sturdy of Saskatoon, long associated with educational matters in the province, is a prospective minister of education and social services. Mayor C. C. Williams of Regina may be given the ministry of labor and Mr. George Williams, former C.C.F. provincial leader, may be minister without portfolio.

Other prospects for cabinet posts are J. H. Brocklebank, leader of the opposition in the last legislature, L. J. Phelps, member of the opposition in the last legislature, and J. H. Brocklebank.

Mr. Fines, president of the provincial C.C.F. organization, said it was estimated that more than 40 candidates lost their deposits, the majority of them Progressive Conservatives.

Mrs. B. Trew, one of the two women candidates, won in the Moose Jaw constituency where she defeated Capt. J. J. Milneberger, the sitting Liberal member.

CLOSE CONTEST

When the count was completed at Cunningham, Mrs. Gladys Strimling, who had 30 votes, less than Mr. Patterson, having given the retiring premier a close run throughout the count.

During the campaign it was estimated that women represented 30 per cent of the voters. Spoken for all the major parties noted the importance of their votes.

Mr. Williams was re-elected in Wadena, where the Liberals did not enter a candidate. He has returned from service overseas where his health had been indifferent in recent months.

Mr. Patterson heard the election results in his home in Regina and was expected to be in Regina, the provincial capital, today. He has been premier since 1935 but succeeded Hon. J. G. Gardiner who was federal minister of agriculture.

The one Social Credit candidate in yesterday's election, Frank E. Talbot of Moose Jaw, was defeated. In the 1938 election, Social Credit polled 6,720 votes.

New Sask. Govt. May Organize Buying Board

REGINA, June 16.—(CP)—Appointment of a provincial purchasing board to purchase supplies required by the government was forecast today as one of the first duties of the C.C.F. administration elected in Saskatchewan yesterday.

During the election campaign Premier-Elect T. C. Douglas said his party believed large sums could be saved by such a board. The C.C.F. thought that the Saskatchewan government would be able to save considerable money on liquor sales could be increased. While Alberta sold liquor at the same price provinces were high in this province.

Mr. Douglas said that revenues which properly belong to Saskatchewan through the development of resources by private companies should be retained in the province. C.C.F. policies suggested adjustments to see that revenue from such sources was kept at home to a greater degree.

STATE MEDICINE

After civil health social security program carried out by a Labor government in New Zealand, Mr. Douglas said, the province required state medicine. Young people would be placed in health services at the University of Saskatchewan and grants would be made to the province for building hospitals and employing doctors.

"We have not a healthy race today," said Mr. Douglas, noting the prevalence of chronic diseases. He was seeking to enlist in the service of the government.

The C.C.F. leader said he believed that as soon as a C.C.F. government established new sources of revenue it could abolish the education tax now levied on most of the goods bought by Saskatchewan residents. The tax was "regressive" in that it weighed heavily on those who had to buy the most, irrespective of their income. The C.C.F. would seek to place taxation on those best able to pay.

VANCOUVER, June 16.—(CP)—Pleasure in the outcome of the Saskatchewan election was expressed last night by F. J. McKenzie, C.C.F. provincial secretary in British Columbia.

The achievements which will be accomplished by the people of Saskatchewan through their C.C.F. government will have the effect of assuring in the people of British Columbia a greater confidence in their own ability to improve conditions in this province through the C.C.F.

people of Saskatchewan as a whole."

His statement follows:
I am delighted at the outcome of the election. We do not take this as a personal triumph for the leadership of the C.C.F. membership. It is a victory for the people of Saskatchewan as a whole.

There is, of course, a certain relief of the feeling of western people with respect to federal government policies and is commendation of the agriculture policies of Hon. J. G. Gardiner, federal minister of agriculture, the manpower policies of the Dominion and the failure to make provision for post-war reconstruction.

Mr. Ramsey's statement:
The Progressive Conservative Party stands as a movement. Although defeated at this election, we propose proceeding in our endeavor to stand for those principles which history has shown to be for the good of the people. We congratulate the C.C.F. and appreciate the cleanliness of the campaign which has been carried on in Saskatchewan. We wish them success in meeting the manifold problems that lie ahead of them in the administration of the government of Saskatchewan.

Mr. Douglas said he believed that as soon as a C.C.F. government established new sources of revenue it could abolish the education tax now levied on most of the goods bought by Saskatchewan residents. The tax was "regressive" in that it weighed heavily on those who had to buy the most, irrespective of their income. The C.C.F. would seek to place taxation on those best able to pay.

C.C.F. Veterans Believed Slated For New Cabinet

REGINA, June 16.—(CP)—Veterans of C.C.F. campaigning in the western provinces probably will be included in the provincial cabinet to be formed by T. C. Douglas, provincial leader, following the C.C.F. victory in the Saskatchewan election yesterday.

Major J. W. Corman of Moose Jaw, a lawyer, was said to be a likely appointment as attorney general. Major J. H. Sturdy of Regina also is likely to obtain a cabinet post, possibly that of minister of public works.

Still Another Protest

The sweeping victory in Saskatchewan for the C.C.F. party is the third stunning defeat administered to Ottawa within the past twelve months. First, the Ontario elections, then four by-elections and now the Liberal stronghold of Saskatchewan have been overturned by the resentment and frustration of a Canadian electorate determined on economic and social reform at any cost.

As the Edmonton Bulletin has repeatedly pointed out, the Hon. L. L. Lalor has persistently repudiated the Liberal party's pledge of monetary reform by which that party gained office. The result is that Liberal voters, section by section, are repudiating the Hon. J. L. L. Lalor.

Socialism was not a direct issue in the Saskatchewan election because the C.C.F. did not make an issue of socialism. They campaigned entirely on economic and social reform. Actually, their socialism was a hazard, rather than an asset. They succeeded, not because of it, but in spite of it.

But the debt-ridden farmers of Saskatchewan merely followed the lead of the farmers of Alberta in repudiating a dishonest and dishonest financial policy which kept the yoke of perpetual debt around their necks.

Small-salaried industrial workers protested the inequities of a system of taxation which did not permit them a decent standard of living.

The voters are demanding economic reform with social security and if they are left with only a choice between socialism and no reform, it is now clear that they will not hesitate to accept the socialistic risk.

Service of Intercession

Edmonton people should not require to be reminded of their duty regarding the War Services Council's open-air service of Intercession in the park grounds, Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. During these critical days there cannot be too many appeals to the compassion of Almighty God.

This open-air service next Sunday is international in scope. It will be conducted by naval, military and air force chaplains. Many of the armed forces will be present in formation, and a service in the parliament grounds, the lieutenant-governor, who will preside on the platform during the ceremony, will review all these units in a march past from the steps of the legislative building.

The service will consist entirely of prayer and song. There will be no address.

Now it has been said, and justly, that the purpose of prayer is not to fawn one's will upon the Almighty, but to enable oneself to conform to the will of God. To define prayer more clearly is to encroach upon theological matter which is not easily expressed in layman's words.

It is a fact, however, that the act of prayer, however often it is performed, draws him who prays more closely into communion with divine comfort. It relieves anxiety and brings peace to the mind.

These are anxious hours. And there is no better way to offer their sharpness than to participate in devotional acts.

Certainly all citizens should be at the parliament grounds Sunday to take part in a service that has as its first purpose the saving of divine comfort to the people whom Edmonton people love the best.

More Trouble for Tojo

Tokyo supplemented Admiral Nimitz' account of the raid on the Mariana Islands. The Tojo announcer said the task force was really an invasion force, that it landed troops on one of the islands from a fleet of 20 transports, and that a battle started immediately. Allied forces were ordered to do the first talking about this phase of the affair.

The landings can hardly have taken place completely by surprise, for the Mariana Islands were the next stepping-stone on the Allied chart has seemed fairly likely for some time. As the Japanese in the Marshalls and the Carolines are doing nothing but hanging-on parties, there is no particular reason why the Allies should not get up bases in the more northerly group if they want to.

Tojo, however, has a new and worse instance of Allied impudence to concern himself about. A late Japanese broadcast (Japanese time) ranged over Japan itself, distributing bomb loads over the "sacred soil" which, according to carefully cultivated tradition, would take away the soul to the sole and peculiar protection of the successive Sons of Heaven who occupy the present throne.

It will not help any to calm the furor in Tokyo to learn from General Marshall that these new devil-craft have been persistently designed for the purpose of overthrowing the Japanese empire.

They can fly incalculable distances, and may therefore come from Shanghai. They carry bomb-busters of the most powerful type hitherto known in the Pacific. They look like bad medicine from the Tojo standpoint, no doubt about that.

Once they start flying from bases in the Marianas, life in Japan will take on a new interest.

Passing It Along

In their convention joy-ride down the St. Lawrence the mayors of Canadian cities and towns decided to send the Dominion Government ought to do something about the crowded housing situations back home and it is in a hurry. Evidently they found it easier to pass the problem along to the federal authority than to say what precisely should or could be done.

Riches, too, are getting a loan is usually notable for the variety of the views expressed on that little tale.

Perhaps the mayors would have got closer to a solution of the problem if they had headed their steamer up the Ottawa, and enquired at the capital as to in-and-out of the Dominion's offer to lend practically the entire cost of putting up a house at low interest and on long repayment terms. Whoever does it, the only way to relieve the housing shortage is to build more houses, and getting a loan is usually the starting point in building one.

That of course does not solve all the housing problems in these war-torn cities. It clears only the way. The next thing is to get materials, and this means a good deal more at present than dropping around to a lumber yard to get the lumber. They send up some scoundrels and boards. Then there is the question of finding carpenters and masons and plumbers and electricians who have been getting a loan is usually the starting point in building one.

Maybe the mayors are not to be blamed for failing to go into details and say what should be done to cause houses to spring up where none now stand. The local town councils have been puzzling over that question for a long time, not to mention scores of thousands of private citizens. Anyway, it was a lot easier to tell the Government to get busy and pull the much-needed rabbits out of the hat.

The city authorities are reported to have rounded up 75,000 suspects and lodged them in the concentration camps which Rome was reported to have built at the same time ago. Laval and company understand quite clearly that the fewer Frenchmen they leave at large the better it will be for themselves.

Then what about the Pan-American Union? We are the only country of the Western Hemisphere not in it. Twenty Latin-American countries and the United States form a council to look after the interests of the Latin American people. Today we have no Latin American friends, and one must look down there and our own diplomatic row has blossomed the same way.

Canada and Pan-American Union

When the Pan-American Union was formed in 1890, it was a splendid coalition, nursed by the British Foreign Office; as we could enter. Today we have the autonomy; but these things take time.

It seems that the United States like to have us join, and would accept our application. But the mink King told the Commons in 1910 that the United States would not accept our application. It was one of those things that everyone seems to have forgotten.

Prime Minister King has stated unambiguously that he would not join any exclusive Empire bloc. On the contrary, says Canada, it is the duty of the United States to join any exclusive Empire bloc. Nothing exclusive, nothing.

A SLIGHT trace of bitterness could be discerned in the voice of Secretary Bill Harris when he phoned last night to place the official nix on ball game proposals for Renfrew Park this evening. "And I'm not saying anything at all about Saturday just now," opined Bill.

Ninth Win
Boston Red Sox, by virtue of Tex Hughson's ninth win of the season, are just a half-game from the league-leading St. Louis Browns. Hughson beat Philadelphia Athletics 5-1 on Thursday.

Contrast this with the well over 20,000 out to see the Giants open on Brooklyn Dodgers. And Ott obliged with his 17th homer just to help along the good work.

Apparently it's Chicago's turn to peer into the cellar of the American League. The Chicago Cubs didn't play on Thursday, but at the end of the day, the Cubs' record was 10-10. The Cubs had dropped from fifth to seventh place. Yankees lost to Washington, but had won their sixth.

TORONTO, June 16.—(CP)—Donalda, owned by C. King of Hamilton, Ont., won a surprise victory Thursday in the Lake Shore Handicap, seven furlongs, the inaugural program of the Long Branch Jockey Club meeting at Dufferin race track.

Given a superb ride by jockey Bobby Simpson, he sped to the finish line by a nose over W. T. Northgrave's Pacific Isle, who was two lengths in front of Garden City Stable's Brother Pat.

The winner paid $24.90 for a $2 win ticket.

Pacific Isle and the favored Galati Fox, from the Riverside Stable, had most of the early speed followed closely by Brother Pat and Donalda.

Atkinson Wins Two More Races
NEW YORK, June 16.—(AP)—Ted Atkinson, Toronto jockey who made five winners yesterday and 10 in the first three days this week, moved home two more at Aqueduct yesterday.

Atkinson, who figured he had ridden 123 winning mounts before Thursday's program, guided Mrs. Mayne Williams' Tambo, a $4.60 to $2 favorite, home first in the feature, a two-year-old stakes at six furlongs, then completed his double aboard Alessandro in the day's last race.

Tambo came in late in the stretch to make a winning ride, by a half length ahead of Bud Grey third. A crowd of 18,368 sent $1,867,563 through the pari-mutuel machines.

Henry Drops Bummy for Counts of Eight and Nine in Opening Heat

Armstrong Quickly Disposes of Davis

Awarded T.K.O. In Second Round

NEW YORK, June 16.—(AP)—Hammering Henry Armstrong battered Al (Bummy) Davis to the canvas in a technical knockout in 80 seconds of the second round. Davis was down for counts of eight and nine in the first round.

Bouncing back from a 10-round defeat at the hands of Willie Joyce in Chicago two weeks ago, Armstrong, a 13 to 5 favorite, gave Davis a technical knockout before referee Frank Fullam stopped it.

Each weighed 141½ pounds. From the opening bell Armstrong was on top of Davis. He whaled away with lefts and rights at close quarters, then, suddenly, stepped away and whipped over a left when Davis knee sagged.

Another left and right, and down went Davis for eight. Armstrong swarmed over him again with a series of lefts and rights, knocking Davis outside the ropes. Davis was helpless in the second round. It was Armstrong left and Armstrong right. Davis went down for four, then two. Then sprawled his stomach. Referee Fullam didn't bother to count as he waved Armstrong away.

Empire Claims His First Game Lengthy Affair
BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEW YORK, June 16.—Nick Jones says the first game he umpired in the American League lasted six months, two weeks, three days and 37 minutes. The arbiter obtained from the Southern Association explains that he had mentally been umpiring it for that length of time.

A Florida cracker, Red Jones had never been north of Memphis until called by Will Harridge.

"I had stage fright so bad that my muscles got locked and my voice broke," he relates. "I made some decisions in a half-facetious, and players have kidded me about it since. I was all in a fret and a fidget before a big crowd. Cal Hubbard asked me why my face was so white. I looked like a bad case of embalmment, I guess. Big Cal was at the plate, performing nonchalantly, as if he were the oldest in Canada and strikes. He looked like the Washington Monument with arms."

"Cal Hubbard also kidded me about looking pale, but he didn't know I had been umpiring that first game ever since I was hired."

NEW BALL SWEATS
PITCHERS would be slicker if umpires did not throw out baseballs with an oily look or smell. The new sphere sweats, it seems.

"It's as if something was exuded through the pores of the leather or leaked through the seams," asserts Cal Hubbard. "It might be due to a hasty process of preparing the hides, or it might be something in the yarn. Maybe it's green yarn. Or maybe the substance that binds the leather closely around the yarn is ferreted out from what was formerly used."

Whatever is in the ball, the home output is on the upward swing. They hit one every time you look up at the Polo Grounds. The Yankees can't hit the Yankees' home runs. Masters have been hit against them. Umpires relate to the players strike oil, but they can't take the Jack rabbit out of the ball.

Red Sox Make Hits Count In Beating Athletics 5-1

BOSTON, June 16.—(AP)—Boston Red Sox made all but one of their six hits count today as they chalked up their ninth straight American League win by beating Philadelphia Athletics 5-1 before a 770 crowd, the smallest in several years.

Tex Hughson hurled the victory, his ninth of the season, which moved the sockers to within a half-game of the top place, St. Louis Browns, who were idle.

Boston took a one-run lead in the opening frame and kept it in front throughout.

MEL OTT HAS GIANTS FOLLOWING HIS LEADER... WITH HOME RUNS

Herb added: "From all reports Mel Ott's batting average is a pretty good effort for a start, with a very superior message about young ladies waiting for their young guests to return from overseas."

Lou also has dramatic abilities, as he proved earlier this spring at a Winnipeg press club meeting. He was just waiting his time at foot-ball.

All bets off. Next thing we know the bookies will be forming a "Society for the prevention of cruelty to and misunderstanding of down-trodden bookmakers." They've been getting a bit of a kicking recently in Toronto and Vancouver.

Anytime you had a wing broken at Toronto's Dufferin on other day when he was forcibly "kicked" from the premises. In Vancouver the cops are carrying the war right to the enemy's home grounds, as they stand guard in pool rooms, stores and other Joe's places where the bookies operate the vice machine.

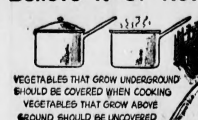

It's getting so now you have to get your way into the track so you can lose an honest dollar.

NEW YORK, June 16.—If Charley Parker, the Texas projectile gets "nervous enough," he may set new records for the 100 and 200 metres during the national A.A.U. championships at Randall's Island, this week-end.

Young Parker of Thomas Jefferson high school, San Antonio, is the most-discussed athlete in the approaching track meet. He has won 49 consecutive races, a knocking off 53 for the 100 in 1943. That was one-tenth of a second behind the world mark, and he clocked off 220 yards that year in 26 seconds, three-tenths of a second off the world standard.

But, during competition in 1944, Parker achieved only 9.6 seconds in the 100, and 30 in the 220. Apparently he sluffed off. The lad who will be 18 on July 17 was "in the mood" for the reason. "The more nervous he gets, the better he runs, it seems. He explained that this nervousness brings the edge before he enters an important athletic competition that approaches fear, but it's not fear," he says. "It's the worrying whether I can win—knowing the tough opposition that's against me."

"If Parker be nervous for Sunday's competitions?" he said, "I'll be worried until I'm almost sick because this is the first time I ever ran outside of Texas. I'll be a bit stiff. I oughta be able to 'f' like hell."

The poetess was named after Joel Poinsett.

SPORTS ... Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, June 16.—(AP)—Ancient history lesson: Moved by the future of Mel Harder's 200th major league victory this morning, Ernie Langman looked over his records and found the near-misses included 198 victories by bullet Joe Bush, 197 by Larry French, 196 by Adolfo Luque and 195 by Adolfo Luque and Bob Shawkey.

Vaughan Haden, Rochester rookie, had made only two hits in 17 times at bat when the Red Wings went to play an exhibition at the Sampson, N.Y., naval training center. "As he went to the plate the first time, a teammate remarked, 'You ought to hit the devil out of this so-called semi-pro pitcher.'"

Haden did, a 400-foot homer on the first pitch.

After he cleared the bases a veteran commented: "All you needed was to hit against some good big league pitcher."

Who Haden learned the Sampson pitcher was Al White, formerly of the Tigers, he became jittery and popped up on the next try.

Dempsey Hitting Willard, Carey's Greatest Thrill

By William F. Carey

Former Garden President

MY EYES don't pop easily, but they popped at the Jack Dempsey-Jess Willard fight in Toledo, July 4, 1919. For sheer excitement from start to finish that fight gave me the greatest thrill in sports.

Dempsey, 6-1, 185, looked small as he received pre-battle instructions alongside of Willard, 6-4, 245.

A Jack, nevertheless, as a fellowman, I was not a fan of the fight.

Willard, 6-4, 245, flabby, confident and so nonchalant, made a strangely contrasting pair.

Dempsey, a bundle of pent-up, Bill Carey, sprang forward and began to fight, sprang forward and began to fight, sprang forward and began to fight.

District News in Brief

Lightning Causes Farm Home Blaze

ENDIAN—Lightning set fire to the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Engel, 10 miles north of town Monday morning during an electric storm. Mr. and Mrs. Engel and children escaped without injury or burns. They saved their stove and some household goods. Blazing shingles fell on the barn roof but the roof was not from the rain and did not catch fire. None of the two haystacks were burned. Rain in the last three days came just in time, as gardens and crops were beginning to feel the dry, hot weather.

Eighty-five thousand pounds of scrap metal were loaded at Scapa and Endian, and left Tuesday for Calgary to aid the war effort. Scapa beat Endian Sunday night when the two haystack teams met at Scapa and played before a large crowd. The score was 12-0.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Richardson of Calgary have been visiting their sons and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Richardson and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. H. Morris have come to Coronation to visit their daughter and family. Mr. and Mrs. William Lewis, at home here. Mr. and Mrs. W. Keibel of Leduc have arrived here to spend some time with their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Keibel.

With Those In Uniform

RED DEER—Capt. Fred Krause, Canadian Artillery of Red Deer, has been seriously wounded in action in France, according to news received here by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Krause. ## M.P. challenges Accepted Policy On Employment

ATHABASCA—A Jubilee service was held in the Anglican church in honor of the anniversary of the first organized church service, Sunday school and day school.

The first organized church service was held in 1850. Missionaries and priests on the way to the Upper Peace or the Arctic had held services there before, but no definite organization had been started.

The residence of Bishop Young housed a printing press, on which hymns and service books in Cree were printed.

Between 1877 and 1888 some streets were laid out. Cole street and then Young street. A block west of Strathcona street was routed through the mission grounds.

Bishop Young died in 1905. While Bishop Reave of the Mackenzie River diocese and administering the diocese, the old church was the back and moved away.

All Saints church was completed in 1908, and dedicated as a memorial to the missionaries of the 28 years of service given to Western Canada by Richard Young and for the 36 years of faithful work done by Mrs. Emily Reeve. It was dedicated also, "in memory of all pioneer Christian workers, known and unknown in the north."

Recent accomplishments in the diocese were the building of two hostels, the B'nai B'rith Hotel for high school boys, opened in 1938 and St. Mary's Hotel, for high school girls, opened in 1942. They are the homes of many boys and girls whose homes are hundreds of miles away but who attend the Athabasca high school. The Athabasca high school, an ecclesiastical was inspected by Squadron Leader Bowman. There were about 30 cadets on parade.
